This workshop is sponsored by the Montana Consortium for the State Action for Education Leadership Project and funded by a grant from the Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund.

The Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium (ISLLC) is a consortium of thirty-two education agencies and thirteen education administrative associations that have worked cooperatively to establish an education policy framework for school leadership. The Consortium's vision of leadership is based on the premise that the criteria and standards for the professional practice of school leaders must be grounded in the knowledge and understanding of teaching and learning. The purpose of the ISLLC Consortium is to provide a means through which states can work together to develop and implement model standards, assessments, professional development, and licensing procedures for school leaders. The overarching goals of ISLLC are to raise the bar for school leaders to enter and remain in the profession, and to reshape concepts of educational leadership.
